INTRODUCTION

The democratic Republic peacefully governs the LEGO® Star Wars galaxy. Discover all about this amazing group—from the beautiful Padmé Naberrie to the courageous Captain Rex.

Introduction MEET THE MINIFIGURES

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

These amazing minifigures are ordered according to the Star Wars® property in which they first appeared or mostly featured. Tabs at the top of each page indicate which properties this minifigure appears in. As most Star Wars characters appear in the Expanded Universe, that tab is highlighted only if a minifigure appears in an EU set. The Clone Wars tab has not been highlighted if the character has a separate Clone Wars minifigure.

This book also includes variants of featured minifigures, which are the same character, but have some modifications that make them different in some way.

Jar Jar Binks

GOOFY GUNGAN

Bumbling Gungan Jar Jar Binks broke the LEGO mold as the first minifigure ever to have a unique head sculpt. He found his way into five Episode I sets in 1999–2000, and then made a comeback in the 2011 set The Battle of Naboo (7929). In 2011, Jar Jar's head-mold had printing added to it to give him a new look.

STAR VARIANT

Early Jar Jar
The first LEGO Jar Jar Binks has a very similar head-mold to the 2011 design except for one thing: his eye stalks are split to depict his eyes. On the 2011 design, Jar Jar's eye stalks are flat and he has painted eyes.

Flat eyes, painted yellow with black pupils

Mottled skin is good for camouflage

Amphibious ears
Jar Jar's distinct floppy ears are integrated into his head-mold and are printed with a mottled-skin pattern.

Jar Jar is an outcast from his people and lives alone in the swamps, so his clothing is dirty and ragged

Torso design is first seen on the 2011 design. The pattern continues on the back

This Jar Jar has flesh-colored arms and hands, while the original has lighter tan arms and hands

First Queen

The original Padmé Naberrie minifigure has yellow flesh, a unique wide-smiled head, and slightly different printing on her torso. She comes in two sets: Anakin's Podracer (set 7131) and Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171).

Padmé's long hair is braided at the top and flows down her back

Don't tell anyone but Padmé Naberrie is actually Queen Amidala of Naboo in disguise! She is dressed as one of her handmaidens to avoid detection on the planet Tatooine. Padmé appears in this disguise in three LEGO Star Wars sets, in two variations, but she remains an enigma in the LEGO world—she has never been seen in her royal robes as Queen of Naboo.

Two faces

One side of Padmé's face is smiling, but turn it around and the other side has a look of concern.

Padmé is simply dressed in a gray vest and blue undershirt. This unique torso pattern continues on the back

Red-jeweled belt

Padmé carries a short blaster pistol to protect herself

PODRACING SLAVE BOY

Young slave Anakin Skywalker may be just a boy, but he can handle a Podracer like no one else! This minifigure made his Podracing debut in 1999 and has since sped into seven sets. The 2011 variant can change from ordinary slave boy to Podracing supremo, ready to ride in his redesigned Podracer.

Necklace given to Anakin by his mother

The shorter LEGO legs do not have a moveable hip joint like regular legs

The variant in the Naboo Starfighter (set 7877) has a brown helmet and hair

Anakin's Podracer (set 7131)

Look out for Anakin's Podracer swooshing through the skies! Seated in the control pod of this 1999 set is the original Anakin, with regular (not short) legs and a gray helmet. Anakin's Podracer was updated in 2011.

STAR VARIANT

Short stuff

The young Anakin minifigure was one of the first to try out shorter legs. The first variant seen with them is in the 2007 set Naboo N-1 Starfighter and Vulture Droid I7660).

Rare racer

This early variant is exclusive to the 1999 set Naboo Starfighter (7141). A similar variant with a gray helmet appears in three 1999-2000 sets.

Anakin wears a simple slave tunic with a brown belt on Tatooine. His clothing can be seen on the back of his torso, too

Podrace face

This side of Anakin's face has goggles and a determined look. He is ready to Podrace!

Republic Cruiser (set 7665)

The Republic captain is in command of the Republic Cruiser Radiant VII. He runs the starship from a control panel inside its middle section and leaves the job of flying it to the Republic pilot (pictured). The Republic pilot sits in the cockpit, which has room for just one minifigure.

The smartly dressed Republic captain minifigure appears in only one LEGO set, flying alongside the almost identical Republic pilot. As captain of the imposing Republic Cruiser (set 7665), the minifigure is charged with the mission of safely shuttling Jedi Obi-Wan Kenobi and Qui-Gon Jinn across the galaxy to Naboo.

GREEN ASTROMECH DROID

Working away behind the scenes on the Republic Cruiser (set 7665) is R2-R7. If you blink you might miss him, as this green astromech droid has only ever been seen in one LEGO set. He has a docking station aboard the starship from which he provides indispensable in-flight backup for the Republic captain and pilot minifigures.

Republic Cruiser (set 7665)
The dependable R2-R7 is exclusive to this one 2007 set. The astromech droid has a docking station in the command center within the middle interior of the ship. He sits alongside the Republic captain, providing in-flight support.

Green Gungan

This was the first variant into battle in LEGO Star Wars. He is exclusive to the 2000 set Gungan Patrol (set 7115). His plain head is the same as that seen on the first Jar Jar Binks (p.6), and his uniform is green instead of brown.

This head-mold is the same as that on the Jar Jar Binks minifigure (p.6), with different printing

Combat eye mask

The Gungans are a peaceful people, but when Naboo is deluged by the Trade Federation's droid army, they are forced to wage war to protect it. The Gungan soldier has battled in two LEGO Star Wars sets, and due to a 2011 redesign, the minifigures in each set are different.

INFREQUENT FLIER

This pilot of peaceful Naboo is not used to conflict, but when the Trade Federation invades his planet, he must take action to defend it in his N-1 starfighter! The pacifist pilot minifigure never carries a weapon, but his 2011 redesign finds himself bound with handcuffs when he is captured by security battle droid minifigures.

Naboo Starfighter (set 7877)

The latest variant of the Naboo fighter pilot appears in this 2011 set. The minifigure can pilot a fast and agile N-1 starfighter—if young Anakin Skywalker's minifigure hasn't already taken off in it!

INVADED INFANTRYMAN

This smiling security guard patrols the peaceful planet of Naboo. The minifigure is rarely called into combat, so he carries no weapons. When Naboo is invaded by the Trade Federation, he is forced to use his Flash Speeder (set 7124) in battle—but he might need to arm himself with more than his binoculars!

Flash Speeder (set 7124)

The Naboo security officer is exclusive to this 2000 set. He pilots the repulsorlift craft with a joystick and control panel. He places his electrobinoculars in a storage compartment during flight.

Headgear

The Naboo security officer's hat is a popular one among LEGO minifigures, but only he wears it in brown. In LEGO Star Wars, the Imperial officer wears the same headgear in gray and the Republic captain (p.9) wears it in blue.

The Naboo security officer's torso piece is unique to him. It features resilient armor plates and a silver-buckled belt

AT-TE Walker (set 4482)

The AT-TE Walker comes with an army of four Phase I clone trooper minifigures, but it can carry up to seven. A gunner operates the swiveling cannon and a driver pilots the vehicle from inside a central cabin.

Blast from the past

The Phase I clone trooper's blaster is a LEGO loudhailer with a translucent blue round plate attached. LEGO Star Wars minifigures carried this blaster until bespoke LEGO Star Wars blasters were released in 2007.

Blank Head

Phase I clone troopers do not have identities—they have faceless black heads under their LEGO helmets.

DC-15 blaster

Only Phase I clone troopers in Episode II sets wear these LEGO helmets

Stripes denote the clone trooper's rank

Utility belt carries clone trooper survival gear

The Phase I clone trooper is part of a vast army that has been cloned from a single individual. Sealed in a heavy-duty shell of white armor, this minifigure is the first of its kind. During the Clone Wars, clone trooper armor is revised so it is lighter, stronger, and more adaptable.

CLONE TROOPER CAPTAIN

Captain Rex is a clone captain who serves under General Anakin Skywalker in the Battle for Geonosis (set 7869). He is featured in two LEGO sets, also appearing in 2008's AT-TE Walker (set 7675). He is not a typical clone underneath his helmet, as he has a unique LEGO head piece. Rex is heavily armored and carries two blasters making him particularly bold in battle.

Unique clone

Although he is a clone, Rex has his own unique head piece. His face has a 5 o'clock shadow pattern printed on it.

As well as this helmet with blue battle honors, Rex also has a clone trooper visor

Range-finder

Captain Rex's minifigure is almost exactly the same in the two sets he comes in. The only difference is that he wears a dark bluish-gray range-finder on his helmet in the 2011 set Battle for Geonosis (set 7869).

Separatist Shuttle (set 8036)

Onaconda Farr is exclusive to this LEGO set. He greets a Separatist shuttle that has landed on Rodia. Nute Gunray, two battle droids, and a pilot battle droid are on board.

They want Onaconda to pledge his support to the Separatists and betray Padmé.

Onaconda Farr is a Senator from the planet Rodia. He is loyal to the Republic and a dear and trusted friend of Senator Padmé Amidala. His minifigure has green Rodian skin, unique blue face markings, and is dressed in his official senatorial robes. Onaconda appears in just one Clone Wars set, where he must choose whether to oppose the Separatists or betray an old friend.

Sensory organs give Rodians exceptional powers of hearing and smell

Rodians have large, glassy eyes that sometimes sparkle

Onaconda's unique torso is printed with his senatorial outfit

Rodians

Onaconda's head-mold was created initially for bounty hunter Greedo's 2003 minifigure. The same mold was used again for the slave W. Wald in 2011. All three Rodian head pieces have different colors and printing.

Onaconda is the only minifigure in LEGO Star Wars to have dark purple arm pieces

Onaconda's sand-green senatorial pants are made from expensive fabric available only on Rodia

Clone Commander Cody leads a battalion of clone troopers and reports to Jedi General Obi-Wan Kenobi. His minifigure wears clone trooper armor that has been modified to reflect Cody's unit and his rank as commander. He has appeared in two LEGO sets since 2008, in which he fights bravely during the Clone Wars.

Armor additions

Cody's minifigure comes with a gray pauldron that fits round his neck and a kama leg armor that clips under his torso. These extra pieces of armor designate Cody's rank as commander.

Orange markings denote Cody's affiliation with the 212th Attack Battalion

Cody has been trained as an ARC trooper, so he is familiar with a variety of weapons

Clone Pilot

FEARLESS FLIER

The clone pilot is trained to fly the super-fast Republic and Jedi starships. His minifigure's uniform includes a blue jumpsuit, an armored torso with specialist equipment, and a high-tech helmet with communications system. There are three variants of the clone pilot, each with a different helmet and head piece.

Helmet is marked with red and yellow Republic symbols

Helmet contains an air filtration system

Torso and legs are the same as Captain Jag's minifigure, but Jag wears a different pilot helmet

Clone Trooper

GENETICALLY MODIFIED SOLDIER

The Star Corps trooper is one of the most skilled soldiers in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. As part of the elite 327th Star Corps, his minifigure wears unique armor with yellow markings. He brings his combat expertise to two LEGO sets: Clone Turbo Tank (set 7261) and Clone Troopers Battle Pack (set 7655).
